Welcome

Welcome to the South West Fairtrade Purchasing Guide. This publication is aimed fairly and squarely at small and medium-sized enterprises, and procurement departments in larger organisations, to help you get hold of the huge range of wholesale Fairtrade items that are out there.

As a Fairtrade campaigner and a business person one of the questions I most often get asked is, "how can I get hold of wholesale Fairtrade items for my business?" This guide attempts to answer that question by listing just some of the Fairtrade wholesalers, distributors, vending machine operators, clothing manufacturers and other business-to-business organisations operating in the UK, and in particular in the South West.

Finally, I'd like to thank all the advertisers and supporters who made this directory possible. I hope you find it useful.

Steve Faragher

"Fairtrade is the way forward – it's such a great scheme and generates so much goodwill. You can feel quite proud when visitors come to the office – they think it's great as well" Jill Dyal, Retail Business Manager, Virgin Trains

If you're a Fairtrade business and you're not in the guide please forgive us. Time and space considerations have forced us to make some cuts, and there are many of you that we just don't know about yet. Email claire@faragherjones.com and we'll try to make sure you get included in the next edition!

Why switch to Fairtrade?

» There has been an enormous increase in consumer awareness in recent years, from the sourcing of food to the conditions of workers in developing countries. This trend is putting businesses right in the spotlight as consumers want to know that producers are not being exploited. Ethical consumption is currently growing at a rate nearly eight times faster than the economy as a whole. Fairtrade sales have doubled year on year since 2003, and recognition of the Fairtrade Mark is higher than for any other consumer label at 70 per cent.

What is Fairtrade?

» Fairtrade provides producers in developing countries with a fair price for their products plus a Fairtrade premium to invest in local community development. Fairtrade buyers enter into long-term contracts enabling investment and stable employment. The Fairtrade Mark guarantees employee welfare and high environmental standards.

What are the benefits to us?

» You'll get more customers. Corporate behaviour is under intense scrutiny by an increasingly discerning public who make ethical choices when spending their money. Integrating Fairtrade into your business by switching to Fairtrade purchasing is a highly effective way of showing your customers that you care.

Switching to Fairtrade also adds a feel-good factor for staff. Offering Fairtrade products to your staff and customers is a great way to demonstrate that you are a caring business as it has high recognition and consumer confidence.

"Fairtrade fits very strongly into our commitment to our communities. As for our staff, with Fairtrade we offer them the choice to follow their ethics as well as satisfy their appetite."
Uzma Hamid, Corporate Social Responsibility manager at KPMG

I want to switch to Fairtrade – what next?

» There are plenty of local and national suppliers listed in this brochure, or ask your current supplier if you are tied into a contract – most now have Fairtrade options. If you switch to Fairtrade, do let your local Fairtrade network know. Not only will they be sure to patronise your business, they may also have a free directory listing, certificate or sticker they can let you have.

Beauty / Catering & Wholesale

Catering & Wholesale

Whether you need to source some coffee and tea for your office, are planning an event and want to make it a Fairtrade one, or want to sell Fairtrade items in your retail outlet, this section has the answers.

The majority of companies listed are in the South West or London, to lessen carbon emissions from deliveries as well as supporting local Fairtrade businesses. Companies listed from other areas are included because they supply original items or quantities that are not available in the region.
